Additional Information

Script: The street we basically just came down was University Avenue, which is one of the main streets running through downtown Toronto. You probably noticed a bunch of hospitals along the way – that whole stretch is actually known as Toronto's Hospital Row, with hospitals such as the Toronto General, SickKids, as well as Mount Sinai in the area.

Obviously we're also at Nathan Phillips Square now. This is the civic centre of Toronto. We can see the City Hall right behind us and also where the Toronto sign is. They do a bunch of events here throughout the year like festivals, food fests, and they even turn this area into an ice skating rink in the winter. Eaton Centre is also nearby, so you'll probably end up back here at this square at some point.

We're going to take a few minutes here to grab some water, use the washrooms, take photos, and do a little photo challenge. After that, we'll regroup and head back to New College together. On the way back, we'll be going back up towards Bay St and to campus, please try not to stray from the group especially when it gets crowded up the street.

Weather Plan

- All 6 ELs to assist with directing NewCs to the designated indoor wet-weather programming. They will usher participants indoors if necessary, and encourage participation in Crafternewn

- Event cancelled if poor weather conditions
